

SECOND TERM OF MAYOR McCLELLAN

Earnest Address of the Executive to the Heads of the Various Departments.

GENERAL BINGHAM'S TALK

POLICE WILL HAVE TO ACT ON THE LEVEL.

New York, Jan. 1.—Mayor George B. McClellan began today his second term as mayor, this time of four years. The ceremonies were brief, as today merely marks the opening of a new term, not a new government. A number of new heads of departments were sworn in, including General Theodore A. Bingham, the new police commissioner.

Address of the Mayor.

After they had taken their oaths, Mayor McClellan called these heads of departments together and told them his ambition is to give the city a clean, efficient and honest government. He alluded to his present office as "the last public office which, in all probability, I shall ever fill," and said: "You, gentlemen, owe your appointments solely to the fact that I believe you are well qualified for the offices to which I have appointed you. I shall hold you to a strict and efficient performance of your duty, and, should any of you fail in reaching the standard which I shall require, I shall not hesitate to remove you."

Aldermen Sworn In.

At the installation of the new board of aldermen today Clarence J. Shearn presented a protest against the seating of President McGowan, elected on the Democratic ticket. Mr. Shearn acted in behalf of J. G. Phelps-Stokes, the Municipal Ownership candidate for that office. Mr. Shearn also presented protests against the seating of five aldermen. They were referred to the committee without having been read. Mr. Shearn said he hopes by the protests to get a writ of certiorari from the courts to effect the ruling of the board of canvassers of elections which seated the men whose offices he contests.

NEW YEAR AND NEW DEAL.

General Bingham's Talk to New York Police Officials.

New York, Jan. 1.—William McAdoo today retired from the office of police commissioner, and his successor, General Theodore A. Bingham, formally assumed command of the police force of the greater city. General Bingham's first official act was to address the inspectors and captains of the department, who had been summoned to meet him.

"We start a new year and a new deal right here," he said. "I have been sent to come here and do a certain piece of work. I am going to do it. I have no suspicion—and we will begin on the level. But, by the nine gods of war, you have got to deal with me on the level. I shall deal with you. There will be no spying on the men of this force. If you are many men, sportsmanlike men, you will appreciate that and treat me the same. Don't go back on the hand that I stretch out to you."

The "shoo-fly" system of force of plain clothes men to watch the patrolmen while on duty which had been tried several times in the past, was revived and continued by Commissioner McAdoo. Many patrolmen were brought up for trial on charges preferred by the "shoo-fly" squad. In view of the new commissioner's assertion, it is probable that the plan will be abandoned.

Mr. McAdoo greeted General Bingham cordially, told him the police were an admirable body of men, and advised him to know them well.

Vice Squad Abolished.

One of the first official acts of the new police commissioner was to abolish the vice squad. The vice squad was the creation of the retiring commissioner and was detailed to secure evidence against questionable resorts.

Commissioner Bingham also accepted the resignation of First Deputy Commissioner McAdoo to take effect immediately and when he found that the resignation of Second Deputy Percival in charge of the Brooklyn division of the force, had not been filed, sent a note to him demanding his resignation forthwith. This leaves the commissioner free to appoint three new deputies, three having been vacated by the resignation of Mr. McAdoo after the death of Third Deputy Lindsey.

The "shoo-fly" squad was first put into existence by Theodore Roosevelt when he was police commissioner, but was abolished by Chief Devery and revived by General Greene.

TOOK CARBOLIC ACID.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 1.—John Ellis, an ex-banker of Beatrice, Neb., and ex-county treasurer of that county, despondent over financial affairs, committed suicide today by taking carbolic acid.

MALARIA ???

Generally That Is Not the Trouble.

Persons with a susceptibility to malarial influences should beware of coffee, which has a tendency to load up the liver with bile.

A lady writes from Denver that she suffered for years from chills and fever which at last she learned were mainly produced by the coffee she drank.

"I was also grievously afflicted with headaches and indigestion," she says, "which I became satisfied were likewise largely due to the coffee I drank. Six months ago I quit its use altogether and began to drink Postum Food Coffee, with the gratifying result that my headaches have disappeared, my digestion has been restored and I have not had a recurrence of chills and fever for more than three months. I have no doubt that it was Postum that brought me this relief, for I have used no medicine while this improvement has been going on." (It was really relief from congestion of the liver caused by coffee.)

"My daughter has been as great a coffee drinker as I, and for years was afflicted with terrible sick headaches, which often lasted for a week at a time. She is a brain worker and excessive application together with the headaches began to affect her memory most seriously. She found no help in medicines and the doctor frankly advised her to quit coffee and use Postum."

"For more than four months she has not had a headache—her mental faculties have grown more active and vigorous and her memory has been restored."

"No more tea, coffee or drugs for us, so long as we can get Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

McCALL RESIGNS, GOING TO EUROPE

New York Life Insurance Company Gets Rid of the "Old Man of the Sea."

SAID HE WOULDN'T BUT DID

ANNUAL STATEMENT IS DUE TODAY.

New York, Jan. 1.—It was made known last night by excellent authority that John A. McCall resigned on Saturday the presidency of the New York Life Insurance company, says today's Times, and that his resignation was reluctantly accepted by the trustees of the company. Official announcement of the resignation had been planned by the trustees to be made next Tuesday, when the annual statement of the company also becomes public property.

Mr. McCall, at his home last night, would not reply to a request that he confirm the report of his resignation. Most of the trustees of the New York Life Insurance company were spending New Year's out of town. None of those who could be reached would talk about Mr. McCall or the company's affairs.

Mr. McCall's resignation, according to the information which has been furnished by the Times, was presented to a full meeting of the trustees Saturday morning. The resignation was in writing.

Makes Him Sick.

In his letter Mr. McCall said that, after long and careful consideration, he had felt it best to take such a step. In the months during which the insurance controversy has affected the New York Life, he said, his peace of mind had suffered from continuous misunderstanding and misrepresentation of his actions and distortion of facts and misquoting of his utterances by the newspapers. He was not in good health now, and he felt that it would be best for himself and for the company if he resigned the presidency. Protests were made by several of the trustees against receiving the resignation and there was evidently a desire on the part of the trustees to retain the president, despite the demands from outside the company for his deposition. It was pointed out to the trustees, however, that Mr. McCall would abide by his resignation, and it was then accepted with appropriate expressions of regret.

Will Join Hamilton.

All of the trustees were pledged to secrecy until Tuesday next, when the annual financial statement of the company will be made public. The statement is expected to be even more favorable to the company than might be expected.

John Clarin, the druggist, who is a trustee of the New York Life, has frequently been spoken of as Mr. McCall's successor, but it is by no means certain that Mr. Clarin will accept the office.

Mr. McCall, it is understood, intends to leave town after Tuesday next to take a long rest. It is not improbable that he will go to Europe for a while.

Many demands have been made by outsiders on Mr. McCall for his resignation, but he steadfastly declined to retire under fire. Suits have been brought to compel his resignation, as well as that of George W. Perkins, who was chairman of the State Superintendent of Insurance Vendevier of Missouri, demanding his resignation. Mr. Perkins of his own initiative did retire, but Mr. McCall has kept his office until now.

COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

Some of the Changes Which Will Be Recommended.

New York, Jan. 1.—According to a report obtained today by the legislative insurance investigating committee has already decided on some of the things which it will recommend in its report to the legislature. One is that the contribution of life insurance monies for political purposes shall be a misdemeanor on the part of officers.

Another recommendation will be for a bill which will require full publicity on the part of the companies in the matter of payments made for supervising legislation.

The committee will also ask for a radical change in the laws governing the state insurance department. What those changes will be the committee itself has not yet determined definitely.

Pledged to Secrecy.

New York, Jan. 1.—The report that John A. McCall is about to retire as president of the New York Life Insurance company could not be confirmed today. It was said that the trustees have pledged themselves to secrecy until after the company's annual report, issued tomorrow, and that that report will contain an announcement of Mr. McCall's retirement will be made at that time.

CHEYENNE GIRL ENDS LIFE

Miss Bertha Rodgers, 18 Years of Age and Very Handsome, Takes Dose of Carbolic Acid.

(Special to The Herald.)

Cheyenne, Wyo., Jan. 1.—Miss Bertha Rodgers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Rodgers, living in South Cheyenne, died suddenly Saturday night as the result of carbolic acid poisoning. Two stories are told of the affair, the authorities claiming the girl, who was 18 years of age and very handsome, committed suicide, and the family claiming the acid was taken by mistake, the girl intending to take cough medicine.

The first reports of the affair stated that the Rodgers family had a dispute at the supper table over the disposition of the check of Rodgers, who is a carpenter in the Union Pacific shops. It seems the mother and daughter wished to take possession of the pay check, but Mr. Rodgers refused to part with it. Shortly after the discussion of the pay-check matter Miss Bertha retired to her room, and an hour later the family was aroused by her moans. When Mrs. Rodgers entered her daughter's chamber she found the girl lying on the bed dressed and in great agony. A doctor was summoned, but nothing could be done for her and she died in about three hours.

Joe Hudson, a well-known bicycle rider, arrived from Denver at 10:30 last night to spend New Year's with Miss Bertha, with whom he had been keeping company, and he was deeply affected by her sudden death.

Coroner Murray viewed the remains, but did not hold an inquest.

WRECK ON THE GREAT NORTHERN IN MONTANA

Helena, Mont., Jan. 1.—A special to the Record from Glasgow says No. 4, the eastbound flyer of the Great Northern, crashed into the rear of a stalled freight train a few miles west of here about midnight. The caboose and four cars of the freight took fire and were burned. The engine of the passenger train was badly injured and the passengers given a severe shaking, but so far as known none were injured. The engine of the freight got out of the way and left its load after sending back a flagman to warn the approaching flyer, but the signals did not seem to have been heeded.

GERMANY HAS NO THOUGHT OF WAR

Apprehension Said to Exist in France Has No Substantial Foundation.

GERMANS PLODDING ALONG

NOTHING TO BE GAINED BY FIGHTING.

Berlin, Jan. 1.—The German foreign office has been aware for some time that nervousness exists in France both among the cabinet ministers and people over the possibilities of a renewed controversy with Germany. Baron Von Richtshofen, the foreign secretary, was informed a fortnight ago that the French cabinet had serious fears of Germany's intentions. The secretary replied to his informant, who was fresh from Paris, that such apprehensions were wholly without cause, adding:

"What could Germany gain by a war?"

No indications of War.

"Inquiries were made here by the French financial interests last week as to the possibilities of Germany provoking a war with France and German bankers, who are extremely well informed politically, replied that there was not the slightest indication that the German government contemplated aggressive action towards France. It was pointed out by one powerful interest that a thousand reasons existed against war where one existed for."

Nothing to Be Gained.

"Only presumption and vainglory," it was added, "would suggest war when nothing moral or material could be gained by it, while it would involve sacrifices of commerce and orderly developments besides the thoroughly specific policy of the emperor, who is immovably in the way of fighting for ambition alone. The delicately adjusted system of product and exchange would be shattered by a war to such an extent that no indemnity or territory could furnish compensation."

The apprehensions in France appear to be due to a reasonable certainty that Germany will oppose France's position at the Moroccan conference, now only a fortnight off, and also to the feeling that France's yellow book on Morocco went rather too far in accusing Germany of assuming a provocative attitude and charging her with bad faith.

British Influence.

The French government, it is asserted here, is aware that these charges placed Germany in an unpleasant light, that the German government resents them and will reply to them firmly. This reply may lead to continued discussion in the press and between the public men of the two countries. British influence, it is stated in Berlin, is known to be doing its best to bring about a settlement of the feeling of mistrust of Germany existing in France, especially in the case of non-official influence, such as recent utterances of Sir Charles Dilke and the military correspondence of the London Times last week. But in view of well-posted quarter here, diplomatic, financial and military, the statement is made that there is between Germany and France is incredible unless France has designs which so far have not been disclosed.

NEPHEW NOT ADMITTED

Funeral of Charles T. Yerkes a Simple Affair—Quaker Minister Officiated.

New York, Jan. 1.—The funeral of Charles T. Yerkes, the late traction promoter, took place from his home at Fifth avenue and Sixty-eighth street today. The funeral services were conducted by a Quaker minister. They were simple and attended only by members of the family and a few close friends of Mr. Yerkes. The body was placed in the Yerkes mausoleum in Greenwood cemetery.

While the funeral services were being conducted, Charles Yerkes of Johnsville, Pa., who said he was a son of Samuel Yerkes, a brother of the dead man, arrived and requested permission to attend the services, but the servants refused to admit him to the house. The visitor induced one of them to take a message to Charles E. Yerkes, son of the dead man, but it did not secure his admission. Four coaches followed the hearse from the house. The second was occupied by the widow of the deceased.

A block from the house the procession was joined by a hack in which was Charles Yerkes of Pennsylvania. The man from Pennsylvania who said he was a nephew of Mr. Yerkes was not present at the mausoleum when the funeral party witnessed the placing of the body of the deceased within it.

ROOSEVELT IN HOT WATER

President Accused of Butting Into British Politics by Expressing Sympathy for Liberals.

London, Jan. 1.—So far the letter of Cameron Corbett, a parliamentary correspondent of Glasgow, in the Union Interests, calling the attention of Ambassador Reid and Premier Campbell-Bannerman to the alleged unconstitutional action of his opponent, D. M. Mason, who Mr. Corbett said, at a meeting of his constituents, announced that in a friendly interview which he had with President Roosevelt at Washington, the president expressed his hearty sympathy with the Liberal party in Great Britain, has not attracted much attention in political circles. The Times, however, says editorially that it does not believe President Roosevelt at the supper table, in conversation with him, but agrees with Mr. Corbett in saying that the president might make some disclaimer and thereby render impossible any further misrepresentation. The Times incidentally recalls the Sackville incident.
